HESP Partnership Helps Holocaust Survivors
Through a new partnership, the Department of Hearing and Speech Sciences and the Jewish Social Services Agency will provide hearing aids and aural rehabilitation services to Holocaust survivors. UMD faculty and graduate students will assist in providing hearing aid fittings and screenings for the clients. Read More

Indian Employment Act Research Could Impact Global Poverty Policies
Researchers from the Maryland Population Research Center released a report on a controversial rural poverty measure in India. Public works programs are used by many countries during recessions to create jobs; the Indian experiment assessed in this study could potentially inform global poverty alleviation policies. Read More

Upcoming Events
Parren Mitchell Art-Sociology Building Dedication
Join us at 2 p.m. Dec. 3 in the Atrium of the Art-Sociology Building as we rename the building in honor of one of our most distinguished alumni, Congressman Parren Mitchell. Learn More

Alumni Night at the Bookstore

Join the UMD Alumni Association Dec. 5 for holiday drinks and treats while shopping at the University Book Center, located in the Adele H. Stamp Student Union. Gain access to exclusive discounts on merchandise, as well as a special trunk show of additional custom Maryland merchandise. RSVP Today

A Conversation with Robert Rubin

Join us Dec. 8 for a conversation with former Treasury Sec. Robert Rubin, who will discuss the state of the U.S. economy. Distinguished University Professor of Economics John Haltiwanger will moderate. RSVP Today

Beth Stevens (NACS ’03)

MacArthur ‘Genius’ Grant awardee is conducting groundbreaking neurology research, shedding light on the function on microglia. Read More

BSOS Departments and Centers

African American Studies
Anthropology
Criminology & Criminal Justice
Economics

Geographical Sciences
Government & Politics
Hearing & Speech Sciences
Survey Methodology

Psychology
Sociology

BSOS Centers & More